Lindblom, Gerhard. Notes Ethnographiques sur le Kavirondo Septentrional et la Colonie du Kenya. Revista del Instituto de Etnología de la Universidad Nacional de Tucumán, Vol. 2, pp. 395-440. Tucumán: 1932.

Yale: Argentina Nk10 + T79e 2

/This source contains material primarily on the Bantu Kavirondo living just south of Mt. Elgon in Kenya. It is based on short periods of field work in 1911 and again in 1920, plus a survey of the literature. Since the data contained herein are not primarily on the Luo, this source has not been processed for the FL11 Luo file. --Analyst/

Stam, N. The Religious Conceptions of the Kavirondo. Anthropos, vol. 5, pp. 359-362. Mödling/Wien: Anthropos-Institut, 1910.

Yale: Nk10 An89 5

/This source contains brief observations on the Bantu and Nilotic Kavirondo by a missionary. The Author stresses the belief of the Kavirondo in a "Supreme Being." Since the subject matter is covered more fully in other sources, this article has not been processed for the FL11 Luo file.--Analyst/

Stigler, Robert. Ethnographische und Anthropologische Mitteilungen über einige Wenig Bekannte Volksstämme Ugandas. Mitteilungen der Anthropologischen Gesellschaft in Wien, Vol. 52, pp. 197-261; v. 53, pp. 113-89. Vienna: 1922-1923.

Yale: Nk10 + An88 v.52, v.53

/This source deals mostly with groups other than the Luo. Section XII, pp. 173-189 of vol. 53, is concerned with the Luo but does not add significant new information on them. There are some animal stories and other folk-tales of doubtful value included. Stigler was the physician on the Rudolf Kmunke expedition to Uganda in 1911 and 1912. Since this source contains little or no new data on the Luo, it has not been processed. --Analyst/